The screenshot shows a web browser window with the FundRazr website. The browser's address bar displays "https://fundrazr.com/find". The website's header includes the FundRazr logo and navigation links for "Start", "How it works", and "Sign in". The main heading is "Trending crowdfunding campaigns", followed by a subtext: "Find trending crowdfunding campaigns. Help make a difference in lives. Create a fundraising campaign and we help you make it successful." Below this is a search bar labeled "Find campaigns" and a "Full-screen Snap" button. To the right, there is an orange button that says "Raise money now" with "Get started for FREE" underneath. The "Trending" section features three campaign cards: "Support for Treva - Breast Cancer Journey - Part III" by Hydie Wahlborg, "NR Fall 2018 Webathon" by National Review, Inc., and "Help Jonathan go to Iceland!" by Jonathan Sims. A right-hand sidebar titled "Browse" contains filters for "Near me", "Friends", "Offering Perks", "Trending" (which is selected), "Ending soon", and "Newest". Below these are "Categories" including "Accidents & Disasters", "Alumni & Clubs", "Animals & Humane", and "Arts & Creative". A large blue arrow points from the right towards the "Trending" section of the website.

Support for Treva - Breast Cancer Journey - Part III

by Hydie Wahlborg
Baton Rouge, LA, US

No one should have to endure cancer once, let alone three times. This is a fundraiser for our friend, Treva. Let's try to ease at least the financial burden of funding her treatment.

NR Fall 2018 Webathon

by National Review, Inc.
New York, US

At this pivotal moment, as we battle reckless leftists, your contribution to National Review, America's most consequential voice of liberty and freedom – and sanity – matters.

Help Jonathan go to Iceland!

by Jonathan Sims
New York, US

For six weeks starting in November, I will be joining the Lifthús Artist Residency in Ólafsfjörður, Iceland. Please help me fund this amazing opportunity!

Cleaning data with regex and missing values

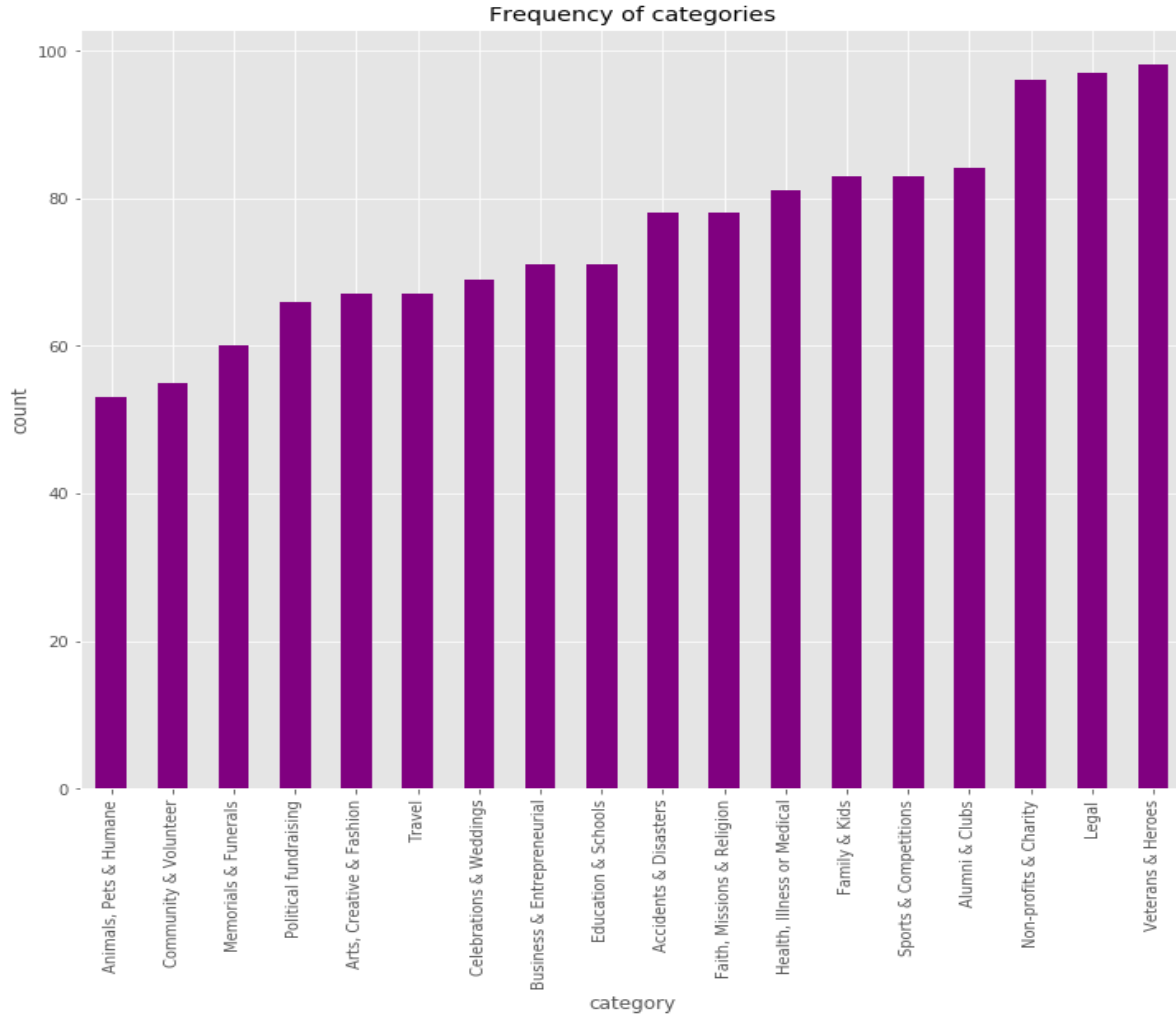

The diagram illustrates data cleaning steps. A horizontal blue arrow points to the first row (index 0), indicating a row selection or inspection. A vertical blue arrow points down to the 'category' column, indicating a column selection or filtering operation. Another vertical blue arrow points down to the 'target' column, indicating another column selection or filtering operation.

General Facts

Analysis

Analysis

- Charity, Medical, Memorial, Community, and Accidents categories had the most contributors on average. They are also the categories that raised the most money.
- Travel, Veterans, Sports, and Celebrations were the worst categories when it came to number of contributors and the amount of money raised.

Analysis

Analysis

- Sports, Non-profit, and Animals had the lowest target goals set, and consequently they were also the highest categories in percent completed. The Health and Community categories followed right after.
- The Legal and Business categories had the highest target rates set and the lowest percent completed toward target goals

Conclusions

Conclusions

- Unsurprisingly, The health, community, and charity categories raised the most amount of money, had the most contributions, and finally had one of the highest percent completed goals.
This could be due to the limited number of days each of these categories was open, and thus many contributors donated more many on average for these.
- Veterans, Travel, and Alumni relations also had the highest amount of days open and were subsequently lowest in number of contributors and money raised.

Future Work

- One thing that could be improved in the project is that next time I scrape the amount of likes and updates each campaign received. With that, I would do an analysis to see how these two factors effect the amount of money raised and the number of contributors per campaign.
- I would also scrape the story for each campaign and use basic NLP to generate a word cloud and see which words contribute to the money raised.
